Crops at Fort Vermilion

Twenty-three farmers in the Fort Vermilion district, in the far north-western part of Alberta, 650 miles straight north of the International boundary, last year raised a total of 9,260 bushels of wheat and 13,060 bushels of oats. Their average for wheat was 26 and a half bushels, and for oats the average was 36 and a half bushels per acre. They also had an average yield of barley of 30 bushels to the acre. This is the farthest north point in Alberta raising grain, and is some 200 miles farther north than the farm of Herman Trelle on which was raised the world's champion wheat and oats of 1925.

YOUR HOME TOWN STORE

A noted English visitor to the West last summer said: "Canada must develop her small towns and villages, have her local newspapers and GOOD HOME STORES, and then they can afford good schools, churches and entertainment centres. But prosperous villages and towns do not exist where the people have the Mail Order habit."

Give this some consideration in your purchases during 1927.

You can get BETTER SERVICE and BETTER ATTENTION to your day-to-day requirements from your own home town merchants than you can from the Mail Order houses.

Our Milliner, Mrs. Stinson of Classic Millinery, Calgary, will be at our store on Friday, March 18, with a complete line of Spring and Summer Hats.

Exhaustive Tests Are Made On the Comparative Merits Of Garnet and Marquis Wheat

After having conducted extensive tests on the comparative merits of Garnet and Marquis wheats, the two early maturing cereals developed within recent years, the Federal Department of Agriculture reports that "we cannot recommend Garnet as a substitute for Marquis in districts where the latter variety may be depended upon to thrive successfully. The report points out, however, that even in those districts where conditions are ideal for the proper development of Marquis wheat, it may often be profitable to the farmer to cultivate Garnet wheat in part of the area devoted to wheat."

The report points out that "from the standpoint of milling and baking qualities, Garnet undoubtedly does not rank as high as Marquis. All things considered, although it seems entitled to a place among the good milling wheats. The chief point regarding which Garnet is open to criticism is in color of the flour. This without doubt is more 'creamy' than Marquis. Since, however, bleaching and maturing processes have become so highly developed and are becoming generally recognized, the objection of the color of Garnet would appear to be appreciably minimized."

Commenting on the results of the comparative baking tests of the two wheats, the report says that "generally speaking, the flour of Marquis absorbs a little more water than does that of Garnet and consequently is inclined to produce a little heavier bread yield."

Garnet wheat, however, maturing from five to ten days earlier than Marquis, has a decided advantage in the early frost belt. The department summarizes the result of its experiments as follows: "On the average of all tests conducted to date on the federal experimental farms and stations, as well as on provincial farms Garnet out-does Ruby quite definitely, but there does not appear to be a decided difference in yielding ability between the former variety and Marquis. This statement would seem to apply pretty generally to tests conducted in other years as well."

"On the other hand, Garnet appears capable of out-yielding Marquis by a substantial margin in specified districts, notably those in which an early spring has a distinct advantage."

"Garnet matures from five to ten days earlier than Marquis and about a day ahead of Ruby under average conditions the difference in maturity between Garnet and Marquis may be considerably greater than that between Ruby and Marquis."

"In strength of straw, Garnet appears to come between Marquis and Ruby, being slightly stronger than Ruby, but not quite as strong as Marquis. Under some conditions, however, Marquis shows distinctly greater strength."

"In tests conducted at the rust research laboratory, Winnipeg, Garnet did not display any resistance to any of the seven physiologic forms of stem rust used."

"Although this variety may not possess rust resistance, it may prove of value in rust areas by its ability to escape this disease, owing to its ability to mature early."

"In the case of samples obtained from the Dominion experimental farms and stations in the prairie provinces in 1924 and 1925, Garnet weighed slightly less per measure bushel than did Marquis. On the other hand, records at the Dominion farms at Brandon, Indian Head, Hinton, Swift and Lacombe over a period of six to eight years, show that Garnet and Marquis averaged 62 pounds and 61.5 pounds per bushel, respectively. Where the supply of moisture is ample, Garnet appears to equal, if not to excel, Marquis in weight per bushel. Time over a 12-year period at Ottawa, Garnet averaged 61.1 pounds and Marquis 62.7 pounds per bushel."

Pure Bred Stock
In the last ten years pure-bred horses have increased fifty per cent. In Canada and purchased cattle 150 per cent, according to Hon. J. N. Martin, Ontario Minister of Agriculture. The value of Canadian livestock he said, is $750,000,000, a third of which is owned in Ontario. A big improvement is seen in the case of sheep and hogs.

A formula has been recently discovered, by which a factory in the Benito makes what is said to be practically unbreakable glass.

Large beetles, found recently in Costa Rica, emit light sufficient to illuminate a large room.

Fox Farming Flourishes

45,000 Foxes Imported and Tattooed for Registration Purposes
During the inspection season which lasted from October 1st January, about 4,500 foxes were inspected and tattooed for registration purposes, according to the annual report of the Dominion Department of Agriculture. The pup crop was an average one and the price for the foxes were reported as higher than those of the previous year. As usual, thousands of foxes were exported to the United States and in addition a number of European countries came to Canada for foxes. Foxes, including Germany, France, Russia, Norway, and Great Britain. Norway purchased 500 pairs and Russia some of the foxes in exchange for silver foxes. Having established a market in Europe, fox breeders are looking forward to a good trade for some years to come.

Advocates More Sheep

Canada Should Produce a Greater Share of Its Own Wool
Advocating more sheep on the smaller farms in Canada, the Dominion Livestock Commission, speaking at the annual meeting of the Ontario Sheep Breeders' Association, stated that farmers need not be afraid of extending their sheep holdings. The Dominion reports $16,000,000 worth of woolen goods were imported last year. There was no reason, he urged why Canada could not produce a greater share of its own wool than it does. He said that the Dominion produces less than $5,000,000 worth of wool. There was no reason, he urged why Canada could not produce a greater share of its own wool than it does. Airplanes Saving Forests

Pilots Not Only Stop Fires But Help Conquer Them
"Every year," said Hon. William Finlayson, Minister of Lands and Forests in the Legislature, "we have the same number of forest fires in the West. Now we can't control the fire that throws a burning cigarette away. It is still small and prevent it from spreading. How is it done? Ask the 'Falcon' for instance, says Mr. Finlayson."

On July 1, 1924, at 4 o'clock in the morning, forest patrol machine "Falcon" with Pilot Russell, and Air Engineer Cheeseman, spotted a fire in valuable spruce timber in unincorporated territory around Clearwater Lake, far out of the beaten path of the forest fire ranger. What happened?

Well, the "Falcon" flew direct to its base at Pine Ridge, 45 miles distant, for assistance. It flew the course 12 times that day putting in more than 11 flying hours. To the scene of the fire it transported ten men, 1,500 pounds of food, including 100 blankets, 200 feet of hose, ax, pump, two canoes and other materials with which to prevent the spread of the fire on the range to the west.

Furthermore, Pilot Russell also flew his "beast" to Lac Seul to bring in three extra fire-fighters.

"This," said Mr. Finlayson, "is only the same night the fire was out, with less than an acre of timber consumed."

"And the 'Falcon' for instance, can tell you," says Mr. Finlayson.

Manitoba Tax Collections

Increases Shown for 1925 of Over Half a Million Over Previous Year
Provincial collections under the Manitoba Tax Commission for the calendar year 1925 exceeded $2,332,000, or a half-million more than $1,800,000 over the figures for the previous year, according to the report of the Commission tabled in the Legislature by the Hon. D. L. McLeod. These figures are thought to point to another surplus to be announced by Premier John Bracken at the close of the fiscal year, ending April 30th. Virtually all the major revenue producers show increased returns as compared with 1925.

A book which once sold for one penny, brought $3,200 at auction in New York. The volume was a first edition of Edward Fitzgerald's "Rubaiyat of Omar Khayyam," published 1853.

Beauty and the Beast in the Rockies

Miss Mary Cross, of Calgary, Queen of the Carnival recently held at Banff, certainly knows how to handle a beast, and when it comes to packing a load on one has little to learn from Bill Post or any other of the famous gladiators that abound in that section of the Rockies. The cause also appears to be enjoying the sport since he is taking a peek at the lady who is stringing him along. Miss Cross was one of the attractions at the Die Wister show at Banff, where not only winter sports, but some much more intimate sport, connected with the show, such as open air swimming, was indulged in, thanks to the warm Sulphur Springs of that favored locality. The Carnival was a record success in all ways this year.

Upward Trend of Canadian Seed

Seed Production Becoming More Profitable in Canada

In contrast to seed production in Canada is more and more becoming important and profitable, the Dominion Minister of Agriculture in his report for the year ending March 31st, it is planned to be able to say that Canadian grain needs no command from the year ending March 31st, that of the winter hardiness, vigor of growth and standard quality of grain. Many kinds of grain, grass and vegetable seed for which there is demand from abroad are continually on the increase in surplus exportable quantities and by their excellence have pretty thoroughly supplanted imported stocks on our home markets. Alberta, barley and brown top or Rhode Island lent grass, the Minister states show the most notable increases in seed crop acreage, the first-named having developed in six years from 23,000 acres to 55,000 acres and from imports of 15,000 bushels to an export of 50,000 bushels to the United States.

Referring to the work of the seed branch of his department, the minister states that barley seed is receiving special attention in Northern Ontario, where the crop does particularly well, that in the South district of Manitoba where a certain has been long recognized for the production of seed oats yields of 100 bushels per acre have been secured, that it has been found that the supply of seed oats with superior seed, and that efforts are being made towards the encouragement of the production of timothy seed. Kentucky blue grass is being encouraged to displace their importation.

In this connection it should be noted that the branch of agriculture at Ottawa has published a convenient pocket edition of the Seeds Act, 1923 which farmers and seed cultivators frequently would do well to possess themselves of, and which can be had free of cost by merely dropping an unstamped postage card to the Publications Branch at the Nation's capital.

Developing Hydro Power

Five Million Horse Power to be Developed in Western Ontario

Applications for permits to develop hydro power in Western Ontario and Northern Manitoba are on a scale that represent an ultimate volume of 5,000,000 horse-power, indicating the potential wealth that the territory is achieving. These range all the way from the Lake of the Woods country to the basin of the Nelson River, and relate to pulp and paper mills, mining plants, civic hydro promotion and transportation projects.

Idle Lands in Manitoba

Plenty of Land Accessible to Railways Available for Settlement

There are immediate accessible opportunities in Manitoba for 1,435 families, according to Prof. R. W. Murdoch, speaking at the convention of the Manitoba Agricultural Societies. These lie in lands at present unused, accessible to railways, schools, churches and other modern conveniences. Murdoch, he stated, there are approximately 3,500,000 acres of unoccupied lands in the province, most of which are without the aforementioned facilities.

Fools occasionally find opportunity, but wise men make them.

Carbonized Coal May Prove To Be Solution Of Canada's Fuel Problem

Market for Bacon

Strong Competition Developing in European Countries in Supplying Market for British

The December review of the live stock situation by the Markets Division of the Dominion Live Stock Branch is one deserving of more than ordinary attention. It is to some extent a commentary on the year's trading. With British industry in more of a settled state than it has been for many months the hope is expressed of an improved export trade.

The most significant remarks are regarding the bacon market. The supply of hogs, the reviewer says, was short of requirements and producers consequently found the market not remunerative. No very material increase in production is in sight, unless the reviewer, and it is hoped that the Canadian producer will see to it that supplies are brought back to more liberal volume, with the strict provision that there is a very marked increase in the volume and acreage of select stock. The reason for this advice is found in the statement that the supply in Europe exceeds that in Denmark are developing a bacon trade with Great Britain and are improving the quality along with the increase in volume.

The comments in the review of the bacon trade closed with the following statement, which will merit serious consideration: "Our place in the British market can only be maintained on the basis of steady supply of good dressed hogs, but along with this the product must be of an increasing improved quality so that we may survive in the market against the improving quality of the competitive product."

In 1925 the supply of select hogs increased to Alberta and Manitoba but showed a falling away in the totals for the whole of Canada in 1925 being 114,600, and in 1925, 164,541.

Charming "Cottage Industry"

Canaries Exported From English Town to All Parts of World

Valence, the ancient French cathedral city of Norwich may retain but a vague memory of the cathedral tower, the spire, the belfry, the church and gateways. How many of these became aware that it is also a city of canaries? The Flemish weavers who settled there in the sixteenth century brought along their canaries as well as their looms with them. The breeding of canaries in that unassuming "cottage industry" has been carried on ever since.

Masses Praises Pool

Says Canadian Wheat Pool the Greatest Act Agricultural Co-Operation Scheme in the World

"The Canadian Wheat Pool is the greatest agricultural co-operative scheme in the world" it was stated by Vincent Massey in his first letter following his arrival at Washington as the first Canadian minister of the Interior.

Mr. Massey was asked if Canada had a farm problem such as the United States is facing, and told the newspaper representatives how the Canadian farmers are finding in co-operation a cure for their financial ills.

"The formation of the Wheat Pool is a tremendous tribute to the resourcefulness and community spirit of the Canadian farmer," Mr. Massey declared. He explained, in reply to an inquiry, that the Canadian Government has not been able to carry out its scheme either formulated by them and aided, of course, by the farmer. The Wheat Pool, he stated, has been formed by the Government, but there had been no occasion for the Government to financially aid the pool.

"The Canadian farmer, like yours," he said, "has had his period of low prices for his produce and has been compelled to pay high prices for the things he needs. The farmers are at this time making rapidly to present conditions, largely through the development of their own business and a steady application of debt is being paid."

Port Arthur Elevators

Now 34 Elevators in the Twin Cities at the Head of the Lakes

Another "cottage industry" has been established at Port Arthur, increasing capacity by 2,000,000 bushels, for which contracts have been made. The elevators at this point a total storage capacity of 27,500,000 bushels in the fourteen plants. In the Twin Cities there are 24 elevators with a present capacity of 62,500,000 and the addition will bring this to 64,500,000 bushels, or nearly 100,000,000 bushels, which now has 67 elevators. It is understood that the additions will be completed in time to handle the 1927 fall crop of grain.

Oyen Boys Win at Youngstown

The Oyen Midgets showed their stuff against Youngstown Midgets last Saturday, and administered the first defeat that team has suffered this season. The score was 4-3.

Play was fast throughout, but combination was slack when most needed. The smaller members of the Oyen team could not carry the puck far, but were deadly in their checking. Murphy in goal, made some wonderful saves and the defence kept the Home sextette well away from the Oyen goal. In an endeavour to tie the score, Youngstown had all their men in the forward line for the last five minutes of the game.
